

We Need a Hero (One Page Sample)

By

Aslan Hollier

A single mother and her son are making it in life, but the boy thinks that they are in need of a hero to make things better. They meet a man who creates heroes because he's always wanted to be one. This man may, in fact, be the hero he never expected to be.

REMY

Mommy!

He hugs her.

She kisses the top of his head.

SELENA

Hey, sweetums. How was school?

She walks away, taking off her shoes in the process, and leaving them on the floor.

Remy drops his head.

REMY

It was okay. Today was Daddy day.

Selena stops and goes back to Remy.

SELENA

Oh, baby.

She kneels down.

SELENA

I'm sorry. I tried to tell your father, but you know how he is.

REMY

(Sulking)

Yeah.

She kisses him, then kisses him again, then again.

Remy laughs.

SELENA

Uh, oh.

REMY

(Smiling)

No!

SELENA

Oh yeah, it's a kiss attack!

Remy runs away giggling.

She chases him, and tackles him to the ground, and kisses him all over his face.

Remy laughs.
